STEREOTYPING IMMIGRANTS IN THE UNITED STATES

Who would you rather have as your Uber driver?

Who would you rather have on your basketball team?

Who would you rather hire to work for your company?

How could you make your decisions based solely on a cropped image of a face?

Stereotypes

What are stereotypes?

- Shortcuts: Enable us to quickly make inferences about a person
- Generalization about a particular group of people, regardless of any variation among group members
- Can be positive or negative

Examples:

Females are not very good drivers.

Black people are great at sports.

People with tattoos and piercings are rebellious and untrustworthy.

Disadvantages of Stereotyping

- Lead to negative outcomes when they blind us to individual differences within group
- Basis for discrimination
 - Treating someone unfairly because of group membership

Which immigrant is most likely to be on welfare?

Which immigrant is most likely to have a successful future?

Which immigrant is most likely to have violent tendencies?

- Whatever your answer was, just know that it was fueled by stereotyping
- Immigrants and foreigners are faced with stereotypes on a daily basis
- Like mentioned before, stereotypes are made because of someone's physical looks, their background or even because of a guess

America has been known to open its doors to many immigrants from around the world

However, immigrants were not welcomed by everyone. There were strong anti-immigrant feelings known as Nativism.

Nativists were hostile towards immigrants for a number of reasons

- believed that immigrant workers were taking jobs and resources from American workers
- believed that poor immigrants brought with them deadly diseases such as tuberculosis
- believed that immigrants would not assimilate to American society and would dilute the American way of life
- believed that immigrants coming in were a threat to national security

"Immigrants are taking our jobs, taxes, and political power!"

Stereotyping and hostility towards immigrants was the result of competitive pressure put on natives by the presence of cheap immigrant labor.

"They will never learn how to be a true American!"

Natives are exposed to undesirable characteristics of immigrants via the media, with videos of them engaging in un-American behaviors like thinking, dressing, and behaving differently. Different is not welcomed.

"They all want to hurt us!"

Natives are afraid of the unknown. They perceive newcomers as a physical threat to their freedom, their security, and their country.

It is important to keep in mind that stereotypes limit our understanding and cloud our ability to see somebody and their full humanity. By making pre-judgments based on these stereotypes, we may be invoked to act on these thoughts and end up either physically or mentally harming the individual.

Peace starts with a strong anti-discrimination
and anti-stereotype policy

We must learn to appreciate and welcome
each other's differences

so that America can be a safe and welcoming country for all.

Middle Eastern Stereotypes

Middle Easterners are constantly depicted as

- Bombers
- Terrorist
- Their names are made fun of
- Women are asked about their hijabs

In the United States Middle Easterners are depicted as so many things along with their cultures being disrespected. Just based off of their looks. Men are looked at as dangerous or killers. And the women aren't respected

Asian Stereotype s

Asians in the U.S are constantly looked as the model minority. Meaning they are the ones who are bond to have successful career in the future. Due to the fact that they assume all asians know every answer in school. People assume that because they're aasian that their parents own a restaurant or nail salon.

Latino Stereotypes

In the US hispanics and latinos are constantly assumed to be immigrants. People think that they're here illegally or they're here to “steal jobs”. Men are looked as criminals or they run a cartel.

African American Stereotype s

In the history of the US African Americans have the longest history with stereotyping. Men and women were looked as lazy. incompetent and ignorant. They are racially profiled. They were labelled as unequal and even had a law built against them after being freed from slavery. Both women and men are looked as uneducated or dangerous.

Now a days the media plays a huge role in stereotyping. This include moves, the news qamd social media. In the movies African American families are minorities , live in a single parent household and/or had a father that went to jail or died due to violence in the neighborhood.. Films constantly just put the stereotypes that are made about people into movies. Social media only capture the wrongdoing of the people that race the most stereotyping. 9/11 was big way the media amplified stereotyping because the description of the bombers. They put gear into so many people that anyone who looked Middle aEastern was assumed a terrorist or bomber. Media affects so many people because of the way they depict situations and they choice what content they want to put out. They don't realize that these movies or exaggerated news reports can change someone's life.
