

School Uniform in Uzbekistan

In Uzbekistan, uniforms are important because it is considered proper clothing for school children. Females skirts should be between 5-15 cm below the knee and heels should be not higher than 3 inches. The government set these guidelines on what the students should wear and these rules have to be followed. This strict rule is what comes to mind when I think of immigration because families were worried about the school uniform mandatory regulations.

Employment Reasons

Immigrants from Asian countries came to the United States because they were low-skilled laborers and there is a better chance to work in management occupations and earn higher income in the United States.

Clothing/fashion

Uzbek national clothes were long, hiding the shape of the human body. Men wore a warm quilted robe, tied with a scarf and boots made with leather. Women wore the robe, scarf, and turban. These choices of clothes were considered to be very traditional in Uzbekistan. When immigrants came to the U.S, they obviously had a change of style and usually wouldn't wear extravagant clothes when walking around. They would typically wear a blouse and pants, skirt, or dress. To represent their cultures, they might wear these outfits in an event which can give them a way to not lose connection to who they really are and where they come from.
